

Issue 31: Autumn 2019

And Greta went to New York...

In an era of a globalised supply chain, the role of the port has evolved from its traditional cargo handling and storage functions to being an integral part of the global supply chain.

Blue Innovation

Container 42

Following a nice and (hopefully for all of you) relaxing summer, we have begun thinking again about innovation in the Blue Economy and any novelties that would be worth highlighting. For this issue of the Odiseo we have decided to revisit the container (following our article on the SmartBox), and decided to explore Container 42.
