Let's learn together!

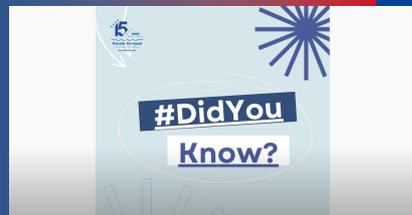

On the 15th anniversary of the Escola...

"We learn together" is a declaration of principles and an arrow into the heart of someone who has dedicated a large part of their professional life to education and training. In 2017, the BBVA bank, in collaboration with the Spanish newspaper El País, launched the educational project "Let's learn together", which aimed to pave the way for a better life, and which materialised in a series of easily accessible videos on the internet featuring interviews, stories and workshops with the participation of well-known people in the field of education, teachers, intellectuals and a long etcetera. It was a marvel that I recommend without reservation...

#DidYouKnow: Introduction to the Cold Chain

The Cold Chain is not a new concept. It has been used for centuries to help transport fresh products, and with the emergence of freezing technologies it made it easier to transport frozen items and medicinal products across large distances.

But what exactly is the Cold Chain? Why is it called that and why do we care?

The possible return to nuclear power in Italy

After the closure of nuclear power plants in 1990, and some 10 years after the 2011 referendum, when 94% of Italians buried the idea of a return to nuclear power, a new referendum is being considered in Italy to promote new nuclear power plants. Today, polls show a return of interest in this technology in the country.
